Leadership By Choice, author Sue Salvemini encourages you to start putting her suggestions to work right now, in whatever capacity you currently work. You can practice the seven key strategies she offers today, right where you are.

Salvemini gives you tools to find what makes you tick and be all you are designed to be in order to have impact and influence as a leader in the workplace and beyond - and to love your job! The strategies include embracing your values, your vision, and your energy; tackling the roadblocks on your journey; developing listening and other skills; and helping your team members develop their own careers.
